PROFILE

As a B.Tech CSE student, I have developed my skills in creating user interfaces that are easy to understand and interactive using React and Tailwind. My passion for crafting great digital experiences is backed by my understanding of AI-based coding solutions, which allows me to approach my web development projects from a unique perspective. Right now, I am looking for a frontend developer internship where I can use my technical knowledge and creative ideas. I would be excited to collaborate with people who have different viewpoints, as this will help me improve my skills.
